OPENED AT CAMDEN

pur Services Conducted by

"We need a religion of modern men. But that does not mean that we have

LIEWISH SYNAGOGIIF

Rabbi Solomon Grayzel

Camden's newest Jewish place of worship, the Beth-El Synagorge at Flarktide was formally opened last hans and Yom Kippur services. Rabbi Solomon Grayzel, who has been enjaged for the ensuing year, delivered his opening errons last evening.

to abundon the things we cherish of the past. That does not make Inen imodern. To accomplish those purposes, we purpose to do two principal things. First, to so interpret Judaism in our services as to give the people a clear secondly, to organize a model Hebrew secondly, to organize a model Hebrew second to future generations may at least know what they may accomplish for the Jews and the world."