I shall picture the school as I left it
The castle with towers so fair,
I shall walk once more through the hallways of time
And find youth waiting there.

DEDICATION

TO PHILLIPS R. BROOKS, for his untiring direction of the physical development of youth, and for his sincere and understanding influence which has upheld the spirit and aims of the student body, we, the class of January, 1937, gratefully dedicate this "Purple and Gold."

THE CAMPUS

FOREWORD

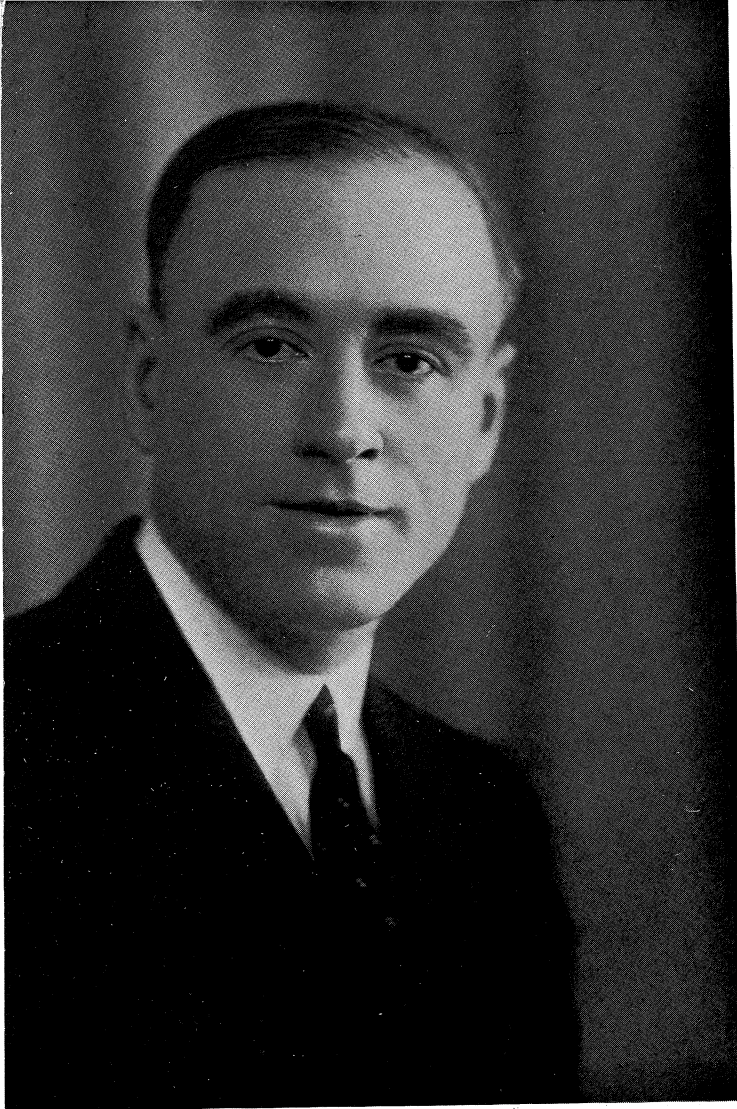

YOUTH is forever looking forward into the future and building for itself a place in that vast cycle of never-ceasing events. In presenting this "Purple and Gold," a memorandum of those joys and friendships, necessary duties and sacrifices, the committee has endeavored to look ahead and offer a year book, symbolic of the pleasures it may afford and the happy reminiscences it may recall of our carefree school days.

JAMES H. SWEENEY,
Editor-in-Chief.

ADMINISTRATION

President, Board of Education

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE GRADUATING CLASS:
Make the most of your opportunities. Each day opens new possibilities. The past held many opportunities;
some which you seized, others which you lost.

Try in the future to lose always less and less of these.

Sincerely your friend,

Carlton R. Hopkins
