

CAMDEN NEWS NOTES

On a charge of beating John Zeck, his alleged rival in love, John Nensditch, 20 years old, of 1723 Van Buren street, was held in $500 bail by the Recorder yesterday.

Asserting that his wife aggravated him so that he just had to strike her, Paul Burton, of 627 Liberty street, tried to excuse himself before Recorder Stackhouse yesterday. His excuse was not acceptable to the court and he was held in bail for a higher tribunal to pass judgment.

It was with much regret that local Methodism learned yesterday that Rev. F. J. Kulp, pastor of the Broadway M. E. Church, the largest in the New Jersey M. E. Conference, had decided to go to St. Louis to become pastor of the Maple Avenue M. E. Church. Dr. Kulp has been one of the leading spirits in religious circles in the city. It is said that Rev. John R. Mason may succeed him.

The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Sayers, wife of William Sayers, took place yesterday from the home of her son-in-law, Silas Boyer, 523 Division street there being present delegations from several societies with which she was identified. Interment was made in Old Camden Cemetery.

With a capital of $10,000 the Moffett & Stewart Company was incorporated yesterday, the object being to do business as architects. The incorporators are Herbert A. Moffett, William H. Stewart and Malcom Webster.
