

CAMDEN NEWS NOTES

** The Burlington Gold Mining Company, capital $50,000, filed articles of incorporation in the County Clerk's office yesterday.

** Rev. J. W. Lee, pastor of Kaighn Avenue M. E. Church, will preach to-night on "The Man Who Was Betrayed by a Letter." Prior to the sermon he will deliver an address on "The Recent Action of the Excise Board."

** While responding to an alarm of fire from Farr & Bailey's Oilcloth Works, on Pine street, yesterday, Engine No. 1 crashed into a repair wagon of the Public Service Corporation. Fortunately no one was hurt, although the driver of the repair wagon was hurled into a snow bank.

** The newly elected officers of State Street M. E. Church will be installed this afternoon. Among the number is Bartley C. Bligham, who will enter upon his twenty-ninth year as Sunday school superintendent.

** Patrolman William Harvey, who has been on the police force for eighteen years, during which time he has never had a complaint against him, has been cited to appear before the Police Committee to answer the charge of using impolite language to Captain Stanley.

** The police were notified yesterday that a German emigrant had been robbed of $10 in the postoffice by two swindlers who made him believe they could easily find his brother, for whom he had been searching several hours, and would after finding the brother get him (the emigrant) a job.

** According to figures compiled by Miss Marietta K. Champion, librarian, the circulation of the Free Public Library has increased 867 1/2 volumes over that of last year.

** East Side residents are circulating a petition to be presented to the Lighting Committee of City Council asking that an arc light be placed at Thirtieth and Thirty-second and Federal streets, the scene of the recent hold-up of Miss Jennie Craig.
