

OVER IN CAMDEN

While chasing crap-shooters Policeman Matlock had his hand hurt.

The Camden Aid Society for Volunteers met last evening to make up articles for the comfort of soldiers in the field.

Pilot William M. Bredell was married to Miss Claude Hulker, at 841 Elm street, on Wednesday evening, by Rev. James W. Marshall, D. D., of Broadway M. E. Church.

William T. Hahn, a distiller, of Norristown, Pa., was suddenly taken ill in Lawyer F. A. Rex's office, 106 Market street. He was removed to the West Jersey Hotel and is improving.

John Brothers, a Republican who was recently removed by the Reformers from his position as janitor of one of the public schools, has been appointed a deputy keeper in the State prison at Trenton.

The Camden Safe Deposit and Trust Company, Camden's leading financial institution, has elected these officers: President, William C. Dayton; vice-president, Alexander C. Wood; treasurer, George W. Wakefield; trust officer, Benjamin C. Reece; solicitor, Samuel H. Grey.

Mayor Hatch, City Clerk Kramer and President of Council Taylor will probably appeal to the Court of Errors from the sentence of $200 fine and costs imposed by the Supreme Court for contempt in ignoring a writ of certiorari at the organization of City Council.

In addition to a judgment for $1700, on which he has put the Sheriff in possession of the Y. M. C. A. building, William J. Coxey, late president of the association, has advanced $800 to pay claims, including interest on a $10,000 mortgage against the association building, held by the Camden Trust and Safe Deposit Company. A meeting of all the creditors is to be held this afternoon.
