

OVER IN CAMDEN

The fourth annual ball of the Sixth Ward Republican Club will be held at Turner Hall next Monday evening.

Most of the female weavers at the Highland Woolen Mills who went on a strike on Monday last have returned to work.

City Council's Street Committee decided last evening to recommend the repeal of an ordinance of Stockton Town Council vacating Morrison street on the East Side.

Rev. H. M. Stinger, of Berlin, last evening addressed the Camden County Christian Endeavor Union in the Third Baptist Church, Camden.

Incorporation articles were filed yesterday by the Eastern Fish Cutting Machine Company, with a capital stock of $100,000, of which $1000 is paid in.

The Fredericks property at Broadway and Federal streets is being fitted up for Camden Lodge of Elks. The work will be completed in about a month.

Howland Croft, the well-known Camden worsted manufacturer, has contributed $1000 for the relief of families of British soldiers killed in the Boer War. Mr. Croft is an Englishman by birth.

Yesterday was the thirteenth day that the Grand Jury has been investigating Sunday liquor selling cases. It is alleged that the members cannot agree as to what disposition to make of the complaints.

Vice-Chancellor Grey heard testimony yesterday in the suit of William and Edward Bunting against the First National Bank of Glassboro. It is claimed that the bank made a mistake in checking off a note of 1900.

At the annual meeting of the Camden Lighting and Heating Company, directors were elected as follows: William J. Sewell, David Baird, J. Willard Morgan, J. J. Burleigh, Colonel A. Loudon Snowden, A. Seche, Joseph P. McCall, L. B. Byers and James E. Hays.

The Fire Commissioners yesterday decided to accept the new fire house on Kalgha avenue, near Sixth street. Three new hose carriages have arrived and are now in the East Side fire house, where two of them will be used. The other will be put in commission at No. 4 house.

At the request of Presiding Elder Dobbins, Rev. J. W. Marshall, D. D., and Rev. John Handley, D. D., Prosecutor Lloyd yesterday sent County Detectives Cherry and Smith to investigate the recent destruction of the Hedding M. E. Church by fire to ascertain if fire was of incendiary origin.