STARTS PANIC ON TROLLEY Prisoner Handcuffed to Detective Given Passengers Scare Fighting desperately for his liberty,

Wilham C. Drew, handcuffed to Counly Detective John Cherry, created a futore in a trolley car on Market street, Camden, sesterday, when he bolted for the door. It was necessary to stop the car while the detective fought with his obstreperous pri-oner, finally subduing him steperous pri-oner, namy subduing him and landing him safely in the county and landing him safely in the county and the control of the contro car for the Jall, a mine and a land obtaint. The card at a firm in the standard and the standard and a standard that the standard and a standard and a but Cherry held on to him. Then the car stopped and he became docile after the chains had been twisted until Drew yelled with pain.