"It can be said to a certainty that at least It can be said to a certainty that at least only one foot deep. It was also said by the 150,000 tons of ore was covered here yester-day at $1 from Escanaba. This single senup several graves, bones were turned up and the feet of persons tence explains in a great measure the end of were plainty visible. The stench of the decrease of the greatest struggles ever carried on between vessel owners and ore shippers with and breeds disease. Dempsey Butler, the owner of the place, is said to be worth $60,reference to contract rates for transporting to lower lake ports the product of the Lake Superior mines. The rate is the same as that of a year ago, although the vessel men were earnest in expecting an increase. At least two of the boats in-cluded in the contracts in ques-tion are Cleveland boats. It could tion are Cleveland boats. It could not be ascertained to a certainty whether any of the contracts run all through the season, and in fact a great deal of uncertainty still surrounds the situation, but the two Cleveland boats in which both shipper and vessel owner are known have been placed for a number of trips short of the season's work The ore shippers make a general claim that some Ashland ore for the entire season was also covered at $1.25, but they refused to give names of vessels or owners.

AGAINST RECIPROCITY IN WRECKING. OTTAWA, Ont., March 28.—Hon. Mr. Kirkpatrick's bill providing for reciprocity n wrecking in Canadian inland waters wa defeated in the senate, today by a vote of 34 to 26. The bill was passed recently in the house of commons. Mr. Kirkpatrick says he will reintroduce it next year.

LOW WATER AND THE GRAIN, TRADE, Although some contracts have been made for carrying ore next season many of the vessel men are firm in their belief that good rates of freight will be paid and more than the usual number will hold off without con-fracting. They present many arguments for their firm belief, not least among which are the prospects of low water and an increased demand for grain carriers.

Capt. Alexander McDougal writes from

Duinth as follows: "The water is very low with little rain to speak of since last August. Westerly winds have prevailed all winter and they will also affect the water in the 'Soo' canal if they continue. Last season boats passed through the canal drawing more than sixteen feet of water. Previous to last year they could not go through drawing fifteen feet. The high water of last season was occasioned by the heavy snow of the previous fall. If we do not get an exceedingly wetspring the average water will certainly be ten inches lower. This means a decrease of 200 tons in all large boats which would equal more capacity than the aggregate of new tonnage.
"We have here about 200,000 tons of coal

We will have nearly as much grain to move between the present and the new crop as we moved last year. Some shippers think we will get 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 of corn, while others think it will not exceed 3,000,000 bushels. Navigation will open early," APPOINTMENT OF MASTERS.

ST. LOUIS STIRRED UP.

Factional Fights Tearing Both Parties to Pieces in That City. St. Louis, March 28 .- The political situa tion here is at a high tension and much bitterness has been engendered in both of the great parties. The Republicans have nominated Col. James G. Butler for mayor and his opponent in the convention, D. P. Slattery, publicly avows that he was slaughtered by a free use of boodle.

Mr. Slattery threatened to run independently, but was finally prevailed upon to not thus imperil party success. The Republican city central committee is made up largely of Slattery men, and today when Col. Butler was called upon to pay over to the committee an assessment of $3,000 he declined to comply unless he knew how the money was to be used. Thereupon members of the committhreatened to take his name off the ticket and substitute another candidate which, it is claimed, will be done unless Col. Butler pays over his assess-The feeling is hightened by an evening Republican paper tonight bolting the nominee for mayor and coming out for the Democratic candidate. The Democrats are no better off. After a bitter personal contest between George W. Allen, the present mayor of St. Louis, and Judge E. A. Noonan of the court of criminal correction the latter was nominated for the mayoralty A leading morning Democratic paper had opposed the nomination of , on the ground that he was the alleged champion of the saloon element, and freely predicted his defeat if nominated. LEASE OF THE WISCONSIN CENTRAL. NEW YORK, March 28.—The executive committee of the Northern Pacific road met again today for the further consideration of he proposition to operate the Wisconsin Contrai road under a traffic agreement. The original proposition was rejected and a new one considerably modified substituted. This was discussed for several hours today and then the two companies to be further changed. The committee then adjourned to meet again next week. It is stated that the proposition now being considered is entirely different from the one-light meet again the considered is entirely different from the one-light med and the first med to the first med and first made and that if any agreement is made with the Wisconsin Central it will be just as beneficial to Northern Pacific as to the Wisconsin Central and will not be one sided. It s also officially stated that the interest of the lines competing with Northern Pacific will be carefully considered and that any agreement readled will be of such a charact ter as to meet the approbation of the competing lines.

EFFORT TO REDUCE EXPENSES. CHICAGO, March 28.—General Manaver Whitman of the Chicago & Northwestern road has addressed a letter to the managers of other western railways suggesting that a conference be held with a view to a more economical management of their properties. One feature which he thinks should be modified is the fast stock train service between the Missouri river and Chicago, which is more expensive than profitable.

TO STOP THE PAYMENT OF COMMISSIONS. CHICAGO, March 28.—Gen. McNulta, re-ceiver of the Wabash railway, has sent a telegram to Judge Cooley urging an early ruling as to the legality of paying commissions on the sale of passenger tickets. Gen. Mc-Nulta says the western roads continue payng commissions, no meeting being called with a view to stopping it. As a result of the telegram Judge Cooley this afternoon wired Chairman Abbott of the Western states Chicago roads, if any, still pay confinissions on passenger traffic? If any, see if it is necessary to summon them here in order to stop it." A meeting will probably be called in a day or two to consider the question.

MELEE IN A COURT ROOM,

William A. Pinkerton Plays the Chief Part and is Now Out on Bail. CHICAGO, March 28.—William A. Pinkerten was the chief participant in an exciting court melee this afternoon and as a result is now under bond. The trouble arose over an attempt to escape by an illegally arrested prisoner of the Pinkertons. Edward Zeisler, the prisoner, was afterward set at liberty by Judge Altgelds on a writ of habeas corpus Zeisler has an office in habeas corpus. Zeisler has an office in Washington atreet and does business as the "European bond company." He was charged by the Pinkertons with being a fugitive from justice from the state of Pennsylvania. Superintendent Robertson of the Pinkertons was an armount humself. Pinkertons got out a warrant and himself made the arrest instead of utilizing a regular officer. The court found this illegal and re-leased Zeisler. Zeisler made a jump for the door. The court was still in session and the utmost confusion ensued. William A. Punkerton made a rush for Zeisler. The latter's son; a muscular young fellow; grabbed Pink-erton by the throat and choked him until his tongue protruded. Three or four other reads of Zeisler made for the door and attempted to clear away by a rush the half dozen constables who blocked their passage. The rush was successful and Zeisler, the elder, got out into the hallway. At this moment Pinkerton pulled away from young Zeisler, and with a heavy blow struck he latter in the face, knocking him down. Then grabbing the warrant from the court's desk Pinkerton broke through the scramb ing throng and reaching the warrant over the heads of the crowd, shouted to a constable which whom he was acquainted: "Serve this warrant quick; don't lethim get away." The constable seized the warrant and shovng it under Zeizler's nose mumbled a few words, and Zeizler had to submit to arrest. When a measure of quiet was restored, a warrant was issued to young Zeizler charging Pinkerton with assault. The detective was at once arrested. He promptly gave bonds for his appearance. This was followed up by the younger Zeizler petitioning Judge Altgelds in the father's behalf. After a hearing the judge ordered the prisoner's re-lease on the ground that a case had not been nade sufficient to hold him under the laws of Illinois. Zeizler is said to be wanted at Scranton, Pa., on a charge of embezzlement. He claims to be innocent.

mpromise on a Question Which Has Divided the South Carolina Church BALTIMORE, March 28 .- A Charleston S. C.) special says; The report of the committee appointed by the South Carolina diocesean convention of the Protestant Episcopal church to try and arrange a settlement of the color question, which led to the secession of nearly all the Charleston churches two years ago, is published today. The report recommends a compromise, which proposes to admit such colored clergymen to he convention as have been in connection with the church for twelve mouths prior to May 18. It also proposes a seperate congregation for the colored churches under the ministration of the bishop. No provision is made for the admission of colored lay dele gates. The diocesean convention meets at Anderson in May next. If the report of the committee is adopted, which is doubtful. three colored clergymen will be admitted to the convention.

Summer Feed for Cows. A correspondent asks you: "What is the best sown crop to produce early summer feed for cows?" This is a problem which the past three drouthy seasons have forced upon the attention of dairymen in the state with increasing urgency. It seems to have become a necessity to provide feed other than pasture the year round to insure against disaster to one's business. I sow rye in the fall for early spring feed, before grass is high enough to turn the cattle on, and should it not be needed it is well worth cost of seed and labor to turn under as a fertilizer for any succeeding crop, or to cut when in bloom for hay. I also sow a piece to outs or barley in the spring, to come on for soiling after the rve becomes too old. Early in June I sow two or three acres to Hungarian or German millet, which on good soil will produce a heavy crop and can be relied on to communes cutting by the middle of July. I fed thirty cows night and morning, four weeks, on less than an acre the past season, and kept up the flow of milk and cream bet ter than any other crop I raised. middle of August the fodder corn is usually mature enough to make good feed, but earlier than that I deem it of little account. I have omitted clover, which is, of course, the summer feed par excellence: but what with winter killing and burning up the drouth, it has failed me completely of late, and unfortunately cannot be relied upon as a sure crop in this region. If prickly comfrey is all that it is "cracked up" to be, as a soiling rop, in some quarters, we hardly need look further. I get a couple of thousand roots last spring, but they did not have a fair chance, and I am not as yet prepared to express an opinion.

The slio, I believe, offers the best method of preserving and feeding green crops whether for summer or winter use, though I have not as yet backed my belief by putting in anything but fodder corn, but I hope to build a small silo for summer use another season.—H. S. Weeks in Western Farmer.

I am satisfied that Cancer is hereditary in my lamily. My father died of it, a sister of my mother died of it, and my own sister died of it. My feelings may be imagined, then, when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant Cancer, cating inwardly in such a way that it could not be cut out. Numerous remedies were used for the but of Cancer grow steadily worse untilities em. t, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the amily. I took Swift's Specific, which, from the first lay, forced out the poison, and continued its use until I had taken several bottles, when I found myelf well. I know that S. S. S. cured me.
