
JOHN A. STOCKTON NAMED FIRE CHIEF OF CAMDEN

Camden City Council yesterday settled the contest among the candidates who aspired to become chief of the Fire Department to succeed the late Charles Worthington, who was killed in the line of duty, by appointing John A. Stockton.

He has been the acting head of the department since Chief Worthington's death. For the past thirty years he has been an active fire fighter.
