

SIX CAMDEN FIREMEN QUIT FOR BETTER JOBS

Higher Wages Lure Members of the Force to the Local Shipyard

High wages paid at shipyards is proving a big lure to the members of the Camden Fire Department, resignations of six ladles being presented to the Fire Committee of City Council yesterday by Chief Carter. The men quitting to become shipbuilders are Louis Newman, George H. Purpfore, Roy De Haven, Julius Hubert, Harry W. Stone and Joseph Sparks. Their places were filled by the appointment of Robert Knox, Allen Palmer, Clarence Purpfore, Anthony Paradise, Harry B. Maxwell and Robert Welsh. Lieutenant Walter Mertz was made a captain to succeed Samuel Whitzell, deceased, and Horace Kerns was made a lieutenant. A contract was awarded to the American-La France Engine Company for a new motor engine. The price is $10,000.

Draftees Leave on April 1

Originally scheduled to go to Camp Dix on Friday of next week, 453 Camden draftees will be at home for Easter. Under an order issued yesterday by Adjutant General K. Gilkyson, the departure of the men is delayed until April 1, when they will go to Wrightstown on a special train leaving Camden at 9:20 A. M. The quota for the Camden city districts is as follows: First, 17; Second, 42; Third, 48; Fourth, 27. The First county district is to send 28 men and the Second county district 41.

Lad Killed by Auto Truck

Knocked down and run over by an automobile driven by Charles Dieser, of 1049 Kaishan avenue, seven-year-old Barry Skoll, of 1118 Chestnut street, died afterwards in the Homeopathic Hospital, Camden. His skull was fractured at the base and he is intensely injured. Dieser told the police he was proceeding slowly up Madison avenue when at Park Boulevard the lad started out from the sidewalk directly in the path of the car. Dieser was held.

Dallas, John T. Blandy, Samuel Withers, Frank Hlawstworth, John K. Bennett, Frederick Lampe, Ben Lacton, William A. Stewart and William D. Brown.

Philadelphian Dies in Hospital

Taken ill in the Camden city prison on Sunday last, James Cipinili, aged 53 years, of 1628 North Bouvier street, Philadelphia, died yesterday in Cooper Hospital of uraemic poisoning. Cipinili was arrested in the Fifth ward on Saturday night while wandering around the streets. He was taken ill the following morning and in an unconscious condition was transferred to the hospital. He did not regain consciousness.

Plan Loan Parade

Camden is to have a big parade on the night of April 6 to mark the start of the third Liberty Loan drive, and it is planned to have a large detachment of soldiers from Camp Dix take part in the demonstration. Because of the lack of railroad cars to transport the troops, it will be necessary to take them to and from camp by auto, and a committee has been named to organize a motor car brigade for this purpose. A detachment of League Island marines will be in the line, the National Guard Reserves will march and other organizations, lodges and clubs will be asked to take part. James Scott is chairman of the Parade Committee.

HERE AND THERE IN CAMDEN

Burned about the eyes by hot metal, William Brickerback, aged 91 years, of 554 Viola street, was treated at Cooper Hospital. He was taken to the New York shipyard.

Partly overcome by gasoline fumes while making repairs upon an automobile, William Borgers, aged 35 years, of 2117 Broad- way, was treated at Cooper Hospital.

On a charge of complicity in the theft of lead pipe from the plant of the Coors Company, James Dietrich, aged 21 years, of Moorestown, was held under $500 bail by Recorder Stachowicz. He has a wife and six small children.
