

CAMDEN NEWS NOTES

 This year's Freshman Class at the High School is the largest in the history of that institution, there being 140 with the expectation of this number being materially increased when the results of the recent entrance examinations are known.

 There will be a resumption of the Camden Preachers' Meeting at the First M. E. Church today. Rev. J. L. Surtees will preside at a general symposium on "Vacation Experiences."

 B. F. Schroeder has been selected an alternate delegate to the National Funeral Directors' convention at Detroit by the New Jersey Association.

 Major Winfield S. Price, who commands the Camden Battalion of the Third Regiment, N. J. N. G., is being congratulated on his excellent work on the Sea Girt rifle range this year.

 James Leon, 12 years old, of 839 South Third street, jumped from a trolley car directly in front of Motor Cycle Policeman Ray at Broadway and Rejoen streets yesterday. At the Homeopathic Hospital it was found he had contusion of the right shoulder.

 Mary Norman, 7 years old, of 213 Channing Terrace, tried to save a younger sister from falling off the step yesterday and she lost her balance herself, resulting in the collar bone being broken. She was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

 There were many persons in attendance at the funeral of Constable Charles H. Peters, which took place yesterday at his home at 616 Chestnut street. Delegations were present from Sioux Tribe of Red Men, Pottowottomie Degree Council, Liberty Park Beneficial Society, the Mutual Association and the Seventh Ward Republican Club. The services were in charge of Rev. Daniel F. Chair, pastor of the Eighth Street M. E. Church, and interment was made in the Harleigh Cemetery.

 Automobiles sent two persons to the Homeopathic Hospital in Camden yesterday. Joseph Murk, of Battie, Mont., was struck at Third and Arch streets, one of his shoulders being badly injured. Mrs. Kate Eschler, 56 years old, of 818 Pearl street, was struck by a machine in crossing the street near her home. Her shoulder was injured and she also suffered from shock.

 Walking along the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Twelfth and Federal streets yesterday, Henry Martin, 14 years old, of 1115 Cooper street, found an object that aroused his curiosity. He placed it on the track and struck it with a stone. After Henry came to there was a hole through one of his ears, a thumb was nearly blown off and he was generally lacerated. His injuries were dressed at the Homeopathic Hospital. It was a railroad cartridge.
